

Every
is a child
masterpiece
in the making.

Ten years ago, a group of visionary leaders at Next Door decided to bring a new model for early childhood education to the city. They saw a great need for change and dreamed of the possibilities for Milwaukee's children. At the time, Educare had only two sites and wanted to expand into Milwaukee. The Buffett Early Childhood Fund, along with other community donors, made the school possible.

As part of this new national model, Next Door's Educare Milwaukee is a leader in early childhood education. By providing a lower teacher to student ratio, research-based curriculum, family engagement and teacher coaching, the Educare model is working. As part of the Educare Learning Network with 21 schools, we are helping to shape the future of early childhood education and prepare thousands of children for first grade and beyond.

Please help the children in Milwaukee soar to new heights by attending our evening and joining in our celebration of gratitude to the Buffett Early Childhood Fund.
