

Meet the Family Advocate

About Me

My experiences have touched on a number of areas over the past 8 years since graduating with my Bachelor of Science degree. I've supported and mentored at-risk youth in the community in which I was raised. I've worked with adults struggling with substance dependences to find stability and build on that success. Since moving to Milwaukee in 2018, I've assisted adults with intellectual disabilities in finding and maintaining employment. Now my focus turns to helping families provide the best environment for their child's education.

I bring a clear, calm, and open mind to work so I can avoid biases that can affect the relationships I'm building. I practice self-reflection frequently to recognize the areas in which I need to grow in order to better serve my community.

Personal Statement

As a Family Advocate I will work with any and all families to help identify their goals and the barriers that stand in the way. I will support those families in navigating around those barriers to the best of my ability.

Growth is often the result of many smaller moments or decisions. They can be hard to see and feel in the grind of the day-to-day. I can help recognize those small moments so together we can steer them in the direction that benefits your child's learning the most!

"Tell me and I forget, teach me and I may remember, involve me and I learn."
